

Policies and Guidelines

About Nekked.Net

Nekked.Net is a website administered by the Primal Church of Chaos (PcOc), a Pagan religious organization, to provide a supportive online social media platform. Specifically Nekked.Net is focused on our relationship with our bodies, and how we can develop spiritually both as individuals and a community through body based rituals and activities. We encourage the sharing of images of consensual acts between adults as part of the healing journey. The expression and acknowledgement of some of our deepest desires can be a powerful experience for many.

Who is the space safer for?

No space is safe for everyone. Policies and procedures invariably favor one party over another, depending on the values of those enforcing them. PcOc values creators over the consumers of their work. We understand that sharing pictures of some of our most intimate moments requires an amount of trust in the community one is sharing them with. Nekked.Net will therefore enforce policies that protect our members who are sharing original content. Members who harass creators will have their access limited or their account deleted.

In addition, PcOc recognizes that many people are dehumanized regularly by a dominant culture founded on white supremacy, patriarchy, and cis-heteronormativity. We therefore will delete any content that promotes those values either implicitly or explicitly. We also prohibit any content that denies the lived experiences of Black, Indigenous, and People of Color, or members of the trans community, as they report them. Our mission is healing first and foremost.

Community Moderation

PcOc relies on reports from members of Nekked.Net to moderate content. We encourage you to use the report button found on a member's profile page. The report form has an option for you to suggest corrective action to take. We will follow up with you to let you know the outcome of your report as it becomes available. We hope to develop and mature our guidelines and moderation procedures following the principles of transformative justice to allow healing for all involved. was removed. You have the right to question the decision to remove the content, and argue why it promotes the values of the community.

Conduct Policies

Nekked.Net is not a website for meeting potential sex partners. It is intended to provide a place for people to express their hidden selves and interact with other adults also exploring their bodies and sexuality. We therefore prohibit harassment, sexual or otherwise, of members through lewd comments on posts or in direct messages. Members found to violate this guideline may have their access limited and/or account deleted. Members also may not be convicted sexual offenders.

Members may find themselves meeting up in real life. Sometimes these are good experiences, and sometimes they are bad. Members are not discouraged from sharing their experiences with other members in the public forum. They are encouraged to also officially report any other member they connected with through Nekked.Net that has been harassing them in any capacity offline. PcOc firmly believes in transformation and growth, and hopes that all parties involved will find the environment they need to heal.

Messages between Members

Messages between members are considered part of the public discourse. Members should compose messages as if they were in the public arena, and are expected to refrain from harassment of any kind even in messages among friends. Members are encouraged to report users who send inappropriate messages. Members who violate the terms of use in a message with another member may have their access limited and/or account deleted without notice.

If you require a higher level of privacy for your message to another member, it is suggested you use another service. Nekked.Net is not intended to provide a platform for private communication.

Profiles

Members each have a profile that they can post content to. Members may have only one profile per email address, but may have multiple accounts for personal and business uses. Members may not make accounts for the sole purpose of harassing other members. These accounts will be deleted without notice.

Profile and Banner Pics

Each member can upload two images to be displayed on your profile. Your profile pic will often appear as a small icon next to your Screenname. It will appear on all your status updates and posts. You should choose something that most people would want to look at. Your banner pic will also appear on your profile, and some of the screens linked from your profile page. It will have a larger format, but should also be something that most people would want to look at.

Friend Requests

Members may want to keep some content more private for a variety of reasons. Members may send friend requests to other members that they would like to share these posts with. A member will not become your friend until you accept their request. You are free to reject any friend request sent to you for any reason. If you unfriend a member, you will have to resend a request to become friends again. Friend requests can be sent through a member's profile.

Keywords

Blocked

Different members of Nekked.Net may have different levels of comfort with some of the material posted. As such, members accept that they may view content they find objectionable for many reasons. If the content violates Nekked.Net's guidelines, please report it and the user who posted it through the website.

If not, members may set up a warning system so that they don't accidentally click on content disturbing to them. These are the blocked keywords that you can enter in your keywords page. You will first be directed to a screen that will require you to click through to see the content. Members may opt out of viewing the post at this point.

Posts

Keywords on posts help other members find your work. Each member can set up a list of keywords to screen all public posts for, allowing you to connect. To allow members some control over the content in their feed, we also ask that members use keywords on posts that contain certain materials. These include scat(poop), blood, and others, depending on the context. Please be respectful of others' limits. PcOc and Nekked.Net reserve the right to add keywords for administrative purposes to posts.

Profile

Keywords on profiles can help members find each other. Through the search feature, members can find others with similar interests. Keywords on profiles can also be used to share your location with other members, if you chose to.

Post Types

Status Updates

Members can enter status updates on their Home page. Status updates can include one image. Members can also add in links from Youtube by copying and pasting the link, or from Imgur by following the guidelines on their site. Content posted to websites outside of Nekked.Net must adhere to the guidelines of those respective websites. Status updates and files associated with them may be deleted to conserve disk usage.

Profile Posts

Members can upload original content to Nekked.Net as profile posts. Each post can have a description and up to four images with captions. To post a writing, the space for caption 4 in the input form has been made larger. Simply leave blank any fields that do not apply to the post that you are making. Any person depicted in any image must be over 18 years old and have given explicit consent to having the image uploaded.

Original vs. Copied Content

Nekked.Net is provided as a free service. The Primal Church of Chaos pays for all expenses through donations. PcOc will never sell space on Nekked.Net for ads or any data about use, aggregate or otherwise. As such, to keep hosting costs lower, we ask that members limit profile posts to original content only. Copied content should be posted as a status update.

Copied content is anything from another website, such as Twitter or Facebook, that you would like to share on Nekked.Net. Copied content includes reposting memes. These are welcome additions to the conversation, but are stored elsewhere, and therefore of a lower priority than original content.

Bookmarks

Bookmark Categories

We hope that members will share many educational and inspiring posts with each other. As members find posts that resonate with them, they may want to mark them to return to later. The bookmark button can be selected, at which point the post will appear in a list on your Bookmarks page.

Members can create different categories to organize posts. A dropdown menu in the middle of the header can be accessed to add or delete categories. Bookmarks filed with a category that is deleted will become uncategorized.

Uncategorized bookmarks will appear on the top of the Bookmarks page. These will also include any new bookmarks you have made. You can use the drop down menu next to any bookmark to categorize or re-categorize it. You can also remove bookmarks from this page.

Public Bookmarks

Members can create public categories for bookmarks to be linked from their profile page. These can include links to different posts you are especially proud of, or for vendors, to show off different categories of your wares. However, members can only mark their own posts with public bookmarks.
